ELECTRONIC COMMERCE, INC. ENHANCES SUPPLY CHAIN SERVICES WITH ORDER FULFILLMENT PARTNERSHIP

MIDWESTERN CO. GETS EXPOSURE, CALIFORNIA CO. PROVIDES WAREHOUSE MANAGEMENT PRODUCTS TO CLIENTS

SAN JOSE, CA---- Electronic Commerce, Inc. (www.eCommerce-inc.com), one of Silicon Valley's most prominent consulting firms specializing in Electronic Data Interchange (EDI), has announced a partnership with e-SupplyLink (www.e-SupplyLink.com) of Traverse City, Michigan. E-SupplyLink specializes in supply chain, order fulfillment software.

According to Susan Stecklair, president of San Jose-based Electronic Commerce, Inc., "This new relationship with e-SupplyLink will broaden our offerings to our client base in California and the West Coast. e-SupplyLink's order fulfillment product works on multiple platforms, offers a cost-effective, and best-of-breed solution for the management of order fulfillment, warehousing, shipping, and labeling. ComplyLink™, e-SupplyLink's premier product, contains Advanced Ship Notice (ASN) kits specifically designed to address the unique labeling and messaging requirements of many prominent retail, automotive, and pharmaceutical companies. This capability drastically reduces labeling, testing, and mapping mistakes, giving the owners of ComplyLink terrific return-on-investment, smooth running warehouse operations, and customer satisfaction.”

Todd LaBonte, president of e-SupplyLink said of the new partnership, “We are pleased to have a stronger presence in California with Electronic Commerce, Inc, allowing us to bring our best-of-breed product to the high-technology, biotechnology and green technology industries. We are confident that our leadership in automotive and consumer implementations can expand into these new verticals”.
